FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

For more information, contact:
Trevor Elmendorf
telmendorf@nysbroadcasters.org
518-456-8888

New York State Broadcasters Association Seeks Nominations for the 2027 Hall of Fame

Class of 2027 to be honored September 29, 2027, at the Rainbow Room in New York City

ALBANY, N.Y. (November 15, 2026): The New York State Broadcasters Association (NYSBA) is now accepting nominations for the 2027 New York State Broadcasters Hall of Fame. Nominations are due by Friday, January 22, 2027.

The Hall of Fame honors the men and women whose talent, leadership and service have shaped broadcasting in New York State. The Class of 2027 will be inducted at the Hall of Fame Luncheon Gala on Wednesday, September 29, 2027, at the iconic Rainbow Room in New York City.

"Every day, New York's broadcasters inform, connect and protect the communities they serve," said Heidi Raphael, President and Executive Director of NYSBA. "This is our chance to recognize the remarkable careers behind that work, both on the air and behind the scenes. I encourage every member station to nominate those individuals who have made a lasting difference."

The Hall of Fame is open to individuals in all aspects of the broadcasting industry, including ownership, management, news, engineering, production, sales, promotion, on-air talent, programming, creative services and associated professional fields.

Nominations must be made by a person associated with a member station of the New York State Broadcasters Association. All decisions are final and are made by the Hall of Fame Committee of the NYSBA Board of Directors.

For more information, please visit https://www.nysbroadcasters.org/hof-nominations. Please submit your completed nomination form and supporting materials to Sandy Messineo at sandy@nysbroadcasters.org. All nominations must be received by COB on Friday, January 22, 2027.

About the New York State Broadcasters Association:

The New York State Broadcasters Association represents radio and television stations across New York State. NYSBA advocates on behalf of local broadcasters, supports the professional growth of the people who work in the industry, and celebrates the essential role broadcasters play in serving their communities. For more information, visit www.nysbroadcasters.org.

u